Welcome to Creative Therapeutics Physical Therapy. Your appointment has been scheduled on: _____
Please arrive 10 minutes before your appointment time. Thank you.

Please Note:

1. It is this office's protocol to have an RX/Referral from your doctor or dentist according to the diagnosis you will be treated for, in order for your visits to be processed through your health insurance.

2. If you are receiving physical therapy treatment at another Clinic, please arrange these appointments on different days when you have your appointment here. It can affect how your insurance plan may or may not pay if you have two physical therapy sessions on the same day.

As a courtesy to others with allergy sensitivities, we kindly ask you to please refrain from wearing colognes or perfumes during your visit here.

A fee of $75.00 will be charged for failure to cancel an initial evaluation appointment without a 24 hour notice. A fee of $50.00 will be charged for failure to cancel a follow-up appointment without a 4 hour notice.

If you have any questions, please feel free to call our office.

Thank you.

Men's Health Physical Therapy

What is pelvic floor physical therapy?

Pelvic floor physical therapy is a specialized area of PT that addresses pelvic floor dysfunction. Two main types of pelvic floor dysfunction exist; the first involves weakness of the pelvic floor muscles resulting in incontinence and the second involves pelvic floor muscle spasms that result in pain and possibly incontinence.

What is the pelvic floor?

The pelvic floor is a group of skeletal muscles that is the bottom of your inner core. These muscles are located at the bottom of the trunk and run from the pubic bone to the tailbone wrapping around the rectal opening. The pelvic floor has 4 primary functions that are extremely important in life. These functions are:

1. Supportive: These muscles act to support all the pelvic organs (the bladder, urethra, prostate, and the rectum).
2. Stabilization: If your pelvic floor muscles become weak you can develop compensatory patterns of movement and substitute inappropriate muscles which can lead to faulty movement patterns and possibly pain.
3. Sphincteric: These muscles help prevent the involuntary loss of gas, urine, or bowel.
4. Sexual functioning.

What are common complaints with pelvic floor dysfunction?

Examples of typical complaints include:

- Involuntary loss of urine or stool
- Deep pain in the low back that can radiate to the abdomen, groin, testes, hips and/or legs
- Pain with ejaculation or intercourse
- Pain with urination, bowel movements, sitting, standing or walking
- Urinary urgency, frequency and retention
- Rectal pain

What should you expect?

On your first visit a thorough evaluation will be completed. Evaluations include thorough history taking, postural assessment, range of motion measurements, palpation of key muscles of the pelvis and surrounding areas, strength testing, analysis of movement patterns and structural alignment of the body. Often times it is necessary to complete an internal pelvic exam to assess the pelvic floor musculature. Once this is completed, all of the evaluation findings will be discussed with you, goals are set and treatment approaches are determined.

How is pelvic floor dysfunction treated?

Specific treatment approaches used by pelvic floor physical therapists may vary according to the dysfunction determined by the evaluation. These approaches include but are not limited to the following:

1. Manual Therapy: Manual therapy may be used to realign the bones of the pelvis or spine. It is also used to release tension in the muscles that attach to the pelvis, including the pelvic floor muscles. Techniques such as myofascial release, trigger point release, soft tissue mobilization and scar mobilization, if applicable are commonly used. When it is found that internal restrictions are present, whether it be muscle spasm, scar tissue, fascial restriction or weakness, the same techniques can be used internally.
2. Strengthening: If it is determined that there is weakness present which is typically the case with incontinence, then this is addressed with a specific exercise program tailored to meet the needs and abilities of each individual.
3. Neuromuscular re-education with biofeedback: Biofeedback is a mechanism where you can monitor how much electrical activity is being generated by the pelvic floor muscles. The goal is to get the pelvic floor muscles to fire with proper timing and force. A patient is taught specific Kegel exercises while being monitored via a connection to a computer through the use of a vaginal or rectal sensor. Biofeedback can also be used to help a patient learn how to stop the pelvic floor from being in spasm. Objective feedback on a monitor facilitates this relaxation process.
4. Patient Education and home program: Education is probably the most important element of your therapy. You will be taught how and why your problem developed as well as prevention of further dysfunction. In order to achieve long term carryover of this type of therapy, you will need to be an active participant by following through with an individualized home exercise program that will be taught to you.

Financial Policy

Communication with our clients regarding our financial policy assists us in providing the best possible service to you. Please read the following. Your signature is required at the bottom of the page.

PRIVATE PAY – Full payment is required when services are rendered to continue treatment.

DEDUCTIBLE, CO-PAYMENT AND/OR CO-INSURANCE – We will be contacting your health insurance to verify your coverage. It is important to remember that what the insurance company tells us is not a GUARANTEE 0of payment from them. All dates of service are billed promptly; however, you are responsible to pay in advance for your deductible if it has not been met. Co-payment and/or co-insurance are required to be paid at the time of service.

PURCHASING PRODUCTS – Payment for all products is the patient's responsibility and due at time of purchase.

Agreement To Pay

_____I understand that the Agreement with my insurance company is an Agreement between them and me. I take full responsibility for payment of all charges for professional services rendered. I understand the financial policy outlined above. I understand that I am responsible for all charges regardless of my existing medical coverage. (Please initial above if you understand these statements).

Consent for Treatment / Release of Insurance Assignment Medical Information:

YES____NO____I authorize the therapy services that the provider feels necessary or advisable in conjunction with my referral.
YES____NO____I assign payment of medical benefits directly to Creative Therapeutics P.T., Inc. (C.T.P.T., Inc.)
YES____NO____I hereby authorize C.T.P.T., Inc. to release to my insurance company or medical provider any medical records or information concerning the treatment to obtain reimbursement on my behalf for the treatment or service provided by C.T.P.T., Inc. I understand that I may revoke the consent to release information to third parties at any time and that the provision of services is not conditioned on my agreement to disclose information to the parties. If I revoke my consent, I will be responsible for paying all services rendered by C.T.P.T., Inc.

I have read, understand and agree to this financial agreement.

Office No-Show and Late Arrival Policies

No-Show/Late Cancellations: Appointment time slots are precious and very much in demand for our office. In an effort to serve you better, we ask for proper notice for any cancellation. Patients failing to provide at least a 24-hour notice will be charged $75.00 for the initial evaluation. Follow-up visits not cancelled 4 hours prior will be subject to a late cancellation fee of $50.00.

Late Arrivals: We make every effort to be on time for all our appointments. Unfortunately, when even one patient arrives late, it can throw off the entire schedule for that session. In addition, rushing or "squeezing in" an appointment shortchanges the patient and contributes to decreased quality of care (and increases medical errors). In light of this, at the discretion of the treating therapist, patients arriving more than 10 minutes late may be asked to reschedule for another day or may be offered another appointment time the same day if there is one available. The late arrival to the appointment will be considered a no-show, therefore the $50.00 fee will apply and will have to be paid before the next appointment.

In addition, we reserve the right to terminate treatment after two no-shows, two late cancellations or three late arrivals.

I have read, understand and agree to this no-show, late cancelation and late arrival policy.
